Singer-songwriter Ingrid Michaelson will be releasing her next album, Human Again, on January 24th. The album's upbeat, optimistic track "Blood Brothers" is exclusively streaming on RollingStone.com. Ingrid says that the song became an unintentional anthem of positivity and solidarity.

"'Blood Brothers' is admittedly a 'We Are The World' song. I did not intend to write a song like that, but that's just what came out," she says. "I think I got shoulder checked one too many times in Manhattan."
